RMF 2000 Inc Coaching Timeline

Congratulations on being named a Coach in Regina Minor Football. This manual is designed to help with a Coaches Timeline. These are the things you'll need to do.

If you need help with some basic football knowledge (skills and drills, offense/defense/special teams), RMF is holding a Coach Development Series in June and July which will be a perfect opportunity to learn and grow as a coach. This is open to all Coaches, Managers and Parents. Go to our website rmf@reginaminorfootball.ca for more info. For other support, contact your division director, or our Director of Coaching Development, Ryan Hall ryan10hall@gmail.com

Things to do ASAP

- Register (yourself as well as assistant coaches) for any of the June and July Coach Development Series sessions that will help you prepare for the season. Register on the RMF website.
- Check on all requirements for Coaches & any other people involved with the Team, including Safe Contact, CRC, Respect in Sport, RMF Self Disclosure, Making Headway in Football. This info will be in the Coaches Manual, and we suggest getting started on it right away.
Register (yourself as well as assistant coaches) for Safe Contact if you haven't taken it. Courses are listed in the Coaches Manul. (Mighty Mites coaches will be trained in Safe Contact during the Kick-Off Camp). Safe contact registration is on the Football Saskatchewan website.
- Ensure you have an adequate number of assistant coaches willing to commit to the practice schedule. A minimum number to run an effective practice would be four.
- Schedule a meeting with your staff and begin work on your offensive and defensive systems. There are many websites available to help with this but remember to consider the age and skill level of the players you are coaching when you design your playbooks.

Things to do in June

- By the end of June, you will receive your Team Roster, and at the same time the players will receive their letters or emails indicating which team they are on. Look at the list for potential managers.
NOTE: To ensure open communication with parents on the team, a Team Manager must not be in a direct relationship with any member of the coaching staff. If this is not possible, please have a co-manager who is not related.
- The first Coaches meeting/symposium will be around the end of June. You must attend this meeting or send an assistant Coach.
- The Coaches' list, and practice field locations will be posted on the web site around the middle of July.

Things to do in July

- Attend the RMF coach Development Series sessions
- Attend Safe Contact training/on-line refresher if needed.
- The Schedule will be posted on the website around the middle of July.
- Around the middle of July, RMF Equipment Manager will contact you with a date and time to pick up your gear. Please remember that RMF has many teams that will draw equipment in a short period of time. Please be accommodating and on time. If you have a shack the equipment can be stored there, however not all teams are allocated shacks, so you may have to store it elsewhere in a secure location, until you have handed it out to players. For those teams who do not have shacks, please remember you will have blocking bags, etc. to transport back and forth to your field.

- Plan to introduce yourself to the parents and hand out the equipment. You may consider having a pre-season meeting to do this. At this meeting you should include selecting a Team Manager, your philosophy of coaching, practice format and team rules. We would appreciate it if you would mention our basic rules at Leibel Field, no pets, no seeds, no chew, no smoking.
- Some duties for the Manager are organizing Registration Night, Team Pictures, phoning trees, Liaison with RMF Office etc. The office would appreciate receiving the Team Managers info as soon as available. There will be a Team Manager's meeting in late July.
- You can hand equipment out before the season starts, or you may hand it out on the first day of the season. You can distribute it from your home or the shack at your practice field. Remember, however or wherever you distribute your equipment you may not start to practice before the first official day of the season (the first Tuesday after the August long weekend).
- Equipment Management is a very important part of your duties. Proper documentation is essential and helps when the season ends, and you must get all the equipment back to the League. It is very important that if players quit you get their equipment back immediately.
- This is a good time to work on your first month's practice schedule. A well-organized practice that has been planned allows you to get the most done in a very efficient way. A sample is included.

Things to do in August

- Ensure all your team personnel are properly registered before the first practice.
- Practice starts the first Tuesday after the long weekend.
- The first week should be a basic week of football. Skill development and assessment of all players' abilities is very important. You should also include introducing your offense and defense. Drills Examples included.
- After the first week, your team will have to register and weigh in. You will not be allowed to practice this night to attend Registration with your players and Team Manager. (See Registration/Weigh In Schedule.)
- The second week you should be working on your plays, it is important to keep it simple, and make sure you practice all the plays you will use in a game. It is more important to have a few plays that you do well instead of too many plays that your players don't really understand.
- If you are coaching PeeWee or Bantam remember you must also practice your special teams.
- Prepare a pre-game warm-up. This warm-up is done on game day at the field.
- Be prepared for your games. It's a good idea to have a list of plays and defenses you will use in a game.
- Fill out your Game Sheet in advance, listing the players in numerical order. List your coaches and manager on the Game Sheet as well, remember only the people on your Game Sheet will be allowed on the sideline or in the spotter's box.
- Enjoy the game.
- After the game, talk to the kids as a group, talk about the positives of the game.
- Work on the negatives or weak parts of your team in your practice next week as you prepare for your next game.

Things to do in September

- Continue running practices and showing up on time for all games.
- Familiarize yourself with the playoff format and tie breaking rules.
- Plan to collect the equipment as soon as your season ends. Ensure everyone knows where to drop off the equipment within a day or two after you finish your season.

Things to do in October

- Prepare for playoffs (if applicable)
- Start to organize your team wind-up and equipment collection.
- Make sure you have all your team equipment collected and return it to the Equipment Manager
